

Lewis Class is part of the Formal learning approach's non-core offer. We provide a small, specialised setting for a group of primary formal learners, currently aged 8–9, with a strong focus on social, emotional and mental health development.

Alongside the formal curriculum, we place a heavy emphasis on social and functional life skills, helping pupils to develop independence, resilience and confidence. Our approach balances academic learning with practical experiences, ensuring pupils are equipped not only to succeed in school but also to thrive in everyday life.

Strong collaboration with families underpins everything we do, reinforcing shared expectations and celebrating progress together.
